

CALL FOR PAPERS

You are invited to submit manuscripts for the next issue of the Review of L'Afrique des Idées. This call is intended for both researchers and professionals with specific fields of expertise. Manuscripts will be published as Policy Briefs of 7.000 words (+/- 1000) dealing with African on various topics such as:

- ✓ Growth, poverty and inequalities,
- ✓ Macroeconomic policies,
- ✓ Digital Economy
- ✓ Renewable energies,
- ✓ Migrations,
- ✓ Trade and international relations,
- ✓ Education,
- ✓ Health,
- ✓ Institutional reforms,
- ✓ Democracy (ex: electoral process, human rights),
- ✓ Culture and arts, etc.

The Review of L'Afrique des Idées aims at making concrete recommendations, based on an exhaustive and balanced analysis, to public decision-makers. It will be disseminated to institutions (parliaments, ministries and state agencies), organisms and development key actors in Africa and elsewhere. Therefore, a policy brief should not include any mathematical equations, theoretical or statistical models, unless they are necessary for supporting the analysis. Simple tables and figures are preferred.

Submission process

You are invited to submit an abstract of 500 words to: policybrief.adi@terangaweb.com before July 17, 2017. Please join a resume and specify four key words. After selection, you will be invited to submit a draft that will be reviewed by anonymous referees. You can also directly submit a 7.000 words (+/- 1000) draft in English or French. You will receive a guide for authors if your proposal is accepted.

You are invited to visit our latest publications to get an overview of Policy Briefs published by L'Afrique des Idées.